A New Student Union

For the past several weeks, University and student officials have been considering ways of alleviating the crowded building situation as quickly and as efficiently as possible. One of the most prominent suggestions—that discussed elsewhere in this issue of the Kaimin—is the purchase by the University of the Student Union building for use as a classroom structure.

At first, this group of planners considered purchasing the building immediately, if the students were willing, and remodeling it into a home for the business administration and education schools.

There are drawbacks to this plan. It would leave the students without a building until a new one could be built. Also, a new Student Union would cost at least $600,000, nearly twice the cost of the present structure built in 1935.

But there are advantages to selling also. The present Student Union is too small to accommodate the present and anticipated future enrollments. It would actually cost more to remodel it as a student building than it would to build a new one. The present structure is in need of costly repairs. It does not have the recreational and service facilities that are desirable in such a building.

Yesterday, at a meeting in the president's office, a new proposal was advanced—one that seems to have more advantages and fewer disadvantages (from the students' viewpoint) than the original plan. It also benefits the University. It is worth considering.

Using existing and future funds, it may be possible to start work on a new Student Union within the next six months. When the first floor is completed, it can be arranged to house the student bookstore, so that the dining facilities of the present union can be increased. Then, as the funds are made available, the new structure can be completed.

Meanwhile, the University would be working on means of securing, from the Legislature, funds previously declared necessary for future buildings. From these funds, the University would purchase the present Student Union building and remodel it into a classroom building of some kind. By the time this is done, the new Student Union should be completed or nearly completed, so students will not be without facilities during the construction work.

There are several "ifs" connected with this proposal. First, the State Board of Education must approve it, and then the Legislature must remove the $300,000 limitations previously placed upon Student Union building funds. This can not be done at once, but will take time, perhaps a few years. In the meantime, though, it may prove possible to begin construction of the new Student Union during the first half of 1947.

And the biggest "if," of course, is whether we, the students, will favor the proposal. After all, it is still our building, and nothing can be done without our O.K. But the deal sounds good from here and might be well worth considering.

Something Missing . . . A GUEST EDITORIAL

Christmas is that time when all over the nation people are getting hysterical about last-minute shopping and posting of greeting cards. Then after this exhaustive period they stay up until dawn relaxing and seeing the New Year in.

Grade school and high school, and even college students, are writing screamingly hilarious themes about all the things they do not want to get for Christmas and how they plan, with fiendish delight, to give baldheaded Uncle Harry a bottle of lilac hair tonic. And journalists, from a stuffy sense of obligation, write little editorials—like this one.

And let's see . . . there seems to be something else tied up with Christmas. Someone called Christ.—Martin Heerwald.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Open letter to the students of Montana State University:

As members of the Associated Student Store board, it is our duty to advise the students and faculty on the policy of the board of directors.

We believe there are many people on this campus who do not know how the student store functions and where the profit goes. Here is a brief outline of the functions of board and student store.

The Associated Student store is a non-profit corporation of students and faculty members guided by a board of directors who formulate the store's policy. This board consists of five students and two faculty members who are elected during spring quarter and hold office for two years. The board is headed by a president and a secretary.

It is the board's duty to hire a manager, approve financial statements, and set the store's policy. Any profits made are turned over to the ASMSU general fund, which is in turn used for various student organizations.

Board's Policy

It has been our policy this year to try to improve conditions around the student store wherever possible. Due to the lack of space and shortages of books, sugar, syrups, and foodstuffs, the progress in our improvements has been greatly retarded.

Because of the manager's foresightedness, this store was far better off in regard to textbook supply than most other book stores throughout the country. We have been working on, and believe we have succeeded in adopting, a better system of book distribution next quarter. A new system of dishwashing has been put in operation, making it possible to handle the present volume of students eating at the fountain. Also, a new potato peeler has been put into use.

Due to the limitation of space in the kitchen the board believes the manager has been doing wonders with the equipment at hand. We hope, in the future, to have a better setup of kitchen and storage space making it more economical to serve meals cheaper. At present it costs more to put out meals than the total intake received from them. With no fountain syrups available it is hard for the fountain to make up financial deficiencies occurring elsewhere.

Will Hire Dietician

The board decided at the last meeting to hire a dietician for the kitchen to give the students a wider variety of meals and to effect better meal planning. To take the load off the overall store manager, the board has appointed Jack Cuthbert as manager of the fountain side, therefore giving both managers more time to spend on their own department. Charles Miller has been hired to take charge of the book store during "Mac" McCollum's leave of absence.

There are many more improvements we hope to make in the future and with your cooperation we will do our best. Some times there are problems and conditions arising that fail to attract our attention. If such a condition does arise we invite any student to bring it to the board and we will try to change it or explain the reason why it cannot be changed at the present time.

Signed—Student Store board: Bob Switzer, president; Richard "Shag" Miller, secretary; Harris Hogan; Bob Seitz; Jane Solvie; Paul Bischoff, faculty; J. W. Severy, faculty.

LOST: Maroon Lady Sheaffer pen. Lost last week. Reward. Esther Halverson, phone 7450.

Dear Editor,

I should like to reply to R. K. McDonald's letter which appeared in yesterday's Kaimin—if a reply is necessary.

The policy of the Mountaineer, like that of any other college literary magazine, has always been to publish any contribution which merits publication. It judges contributions on such reasonably flexible and valid standards as good writing, good taste, honesty and meaningfulness. Any piece of work which meets these essential criteria does and will get serious consideration.

Also, the Kaimin, throughout this and other quarter, has carried repeated pleas by the Mountaineer for material from all of the student body. I should like to take this opportunity to reiterate that plea. We are now accepting contributions for the winter quarter issue. If Mr. McDonald would care to make a contribution which meets the above standards, we shall be more than happy to consider it.

Sincerely,

Marjorie Karlin,
Editor, Mountaineer.

Graduate Employed As Fountain Dietician

Miss Patricia Elder of Missoula, trained dietician, will be employed by the university fountain Jan. 6, Jack Cuthbert, fountain manager, revealed Thursday.

Miss Elder will have charge of food purchases and preparation, Cuthbert said. She will be employed as a full-time dietician at the fountain.

Fountain Manager Cuthbert said that the fountain hopes to improve the quality and offer a greater variety of foods in the future.

Miss Elder, a graduate of Montana State University in 1945, served one year internship at a dietetics school at Grasslands hospital, New York City, completing the course this fall.

BY "SHAG" MILLER

Three weeks ago in this column it was pointed out how a great many needs of the students could be solved by a little action by certain responsible persons at this institution. This is in reference to the need of a bus and a truck of some sort being made available for use or charter to the students and various student organizations. So far very little action has been taken in this direction.

Just in case these people don't know exactly where to start here is another gentle hint. About now our Uncle Sam is selling surplus war equipment. I wouldn't be too surprised to hear that Sam has a lot of those GI buses stashed away some place. There are also quite a few trucks to be had at surplus sales. Since state institutions have number two priority at surplus sales, these vehicles could be picked up there, and cheaply, too.

Another helping aid would be a little action, pressure, lobbying, or what ever you may want to call it, on the part of the student organizations that would benefit from these vehicles—in the right direction, of course.

The Greeks are getting together for a change and throwing their annual Interfraternity ball. According to Lou Stevens, chairman of the whole shindig, this dance will be along a new and novel theme on this campus—it will be formal.

Here are a few helpful hints when writing your finals. When promulgating your esoteric cogitations or articulating your philosophic or psychological observations beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your writing possess clarified conciseness, complete comprehensibility, coalescent consistency, and a concatenated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity and assinine affectations. Let your unpremeditated expatiations extemporaneous descantings have intelligibility and vivacious veracity. In other words, write plainly, simply, truthfully, sincerely, and don't use big words.

Life magazine owes the Kaimin a beer. In the Dec. 2 issue of this magazine an article was written by Jean Libman Block entitled "Doctor Football." This piece was about a New York stomach specialist who is supposed to be quite the authority on football history and statistics. Anyway Dr. Baker, according to the story, would gladly inform an inquirer that the greatest number of field goals ever scored by one man in a single game was 17, by Forest Peters, a University of Montana freshman player, against Billings Polytech, in 1924.

We hate to yell sour grapes but Forest Peters attended Montana State college in Bozeman (or where

Ylinen Begins Subject Survey

As part of a research program being launched by the School of Education, Walter Ylinen, Elliston, has begun a three-month study of subject combinations now being taught in Montana's secondary schools.

According to Ylinen the purpose of the survey is to help future teachers attending the university choose as their majors and minors subjects which they will most likely be asked to teach.

In addition the School of Education hopes to learn more accurately the demands of high schools and thereby with the cooperation of other university departments to improve their teacher-training program.

Ylinen said that a study such as this should extend over a period of several years to be most effective, as many high school subjects are offered only in alternate years, thus creating additional combinations.

As data for his survey, Ylinen will use records supplied to the State Department of Public Instruction by superintendents and principals of Montana high schools. These records show enrollment, number of teachers, subjects taught by each teacher, qualifications for teaching each subject, and other related data.

Fountain, Store Reveal Christmas Schedules

The Student Union fountain and store announced Christmas holiday closing schedules yesterday.

The fountain will close Thursday at 1 p.m. and remain closed until Jan. 6. The book store will close Thursday but will reopen on Monday, Dec. 23, and remain open from 10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. during the Christmas vacation, Charles Miller, acting store manager, said.

The store will be closed Christmas day and New Year's day, however.

ever that school is located) and not Montana State University as the impression was created in the article. You would think with all this of MSU and other Montana schools getting their name in the papers so much lately about this Pacific Coast conference they could at least spell our name right. So, Life magazine, make ours draft this time.

I hope the grades do not come out until after Christmas so I can, with a clear conscience and few misgivings, wish everyone a Merry Christmas. New Year's is always happy anyway.

Nelson to Leave For Sweden

Harold Nelson, Anaconda, will leave the first of the year for the University of Stockholm, Sweden, to enroll in a special foreign trade course.

Nelson, whose application was one of 62 accepted from the United States by the Swedish university, will attend the school under the GI bill, Norman S. Murray, VA training officer said yesterday.

A senior in business administration and a member of Delta Chi business honorary, he must arrive in Sweden by February. He plans to leave Montana by January 10.

AAF Base May Be Deactivated

The Army Air force reserve training unit at Great Falls, where former AAF men are given an opportunity to maintain their flying skill, may be deactivated, according to information received by Pat McCarthy, Missoula, chairman of the Air Reserve association.

In an effort to forestall such a move, members of the ARA and interested non-members are planning to send wires to Gen. George Stratemeyer, Mitchell Field, N. Y., Monday, Dec. 16, and are sending letters and wires to congressmen as well, asking that the base continue operation. Persons who are interested in the further operation of the base are requested to send their views to the proper authorities, said McCarthy.

Silent Sentinel Taps Seven At White Christmas SOS

BY DICK MILLER

Amid one of the most beautiful winter settings of the college year last night at Singing on the Steps Dean Burly Miller tapped seven new members to Silent Sentinel.

The annual Christmas SOS undoubtedly proved that this tradition is one of the most impressive that we have at Montana State University.

After the program opened with the singing by the assembled students of "Montana My Montana", and other school songs, Dean Miller stepped forward and called out the names of the seven men tapped for Silent Sentinel.

Men selected were Jack Buzzetti, Hardin; Bob Dow, Pocatello, Ida.;

Bill Hinrichs, Havre; Bill Mather, Lewistown; Jack Schmautz, Sheridan, Wyo.; Jim Street, Butte; and Joe Theibes, Great Falls.

Silent Sentinel, is the Senior men's honorary organization that is formed by picked men from the senior class. The men through out their college careers have made outstanding contributions to the University and student body through activities, scholarship, and athletics. Selection is made by the preceding group of Silent Sentinels.

Before tapping the seven men Dean Miller gave a brief resume of the history of Silent Sentinel. This group was first organized on the campus approximately 20 years ago. It functioned actively until 1943 when it was disbanded during the war. However, last spring members of Silent Sentinel during the pre-war years, in order to reactivate the group, selected five men from the senior class to form the present nucleus for the senior organization.

These men are Jerry Anderson, Helena; Howard Golder, Missoula; Vern Hamre, Opportunity, Wash.; Arnie Rivin, Missoula; and Dick Miller, Butte. From this group, Hamre was elected as president to serve until spring quarter 1947.

This group was augmented by the return to school of four members of the last group of Silent Sentinel tapped in 1943. These men are Ted Delaney, Missoula; Bob Gulbrandson, Pendroy; Neal Rasmussen, Missoula; and Bob Wylder, Havre.

All the present members of Silent Sentinel were introduced to the crowd by Dean Miller, before the tapping took place.

After the conclusion of the tapping, the students, under the direction of Prof. John Lester, joined Eric Davis, the little lad with the stocking, will celebrate his third birthday just two days after Christmas. His father, Wallace, a graduate student in journalism and English, took the picture as young Eric was explaining Christmas and Santa Claus to Scarlet O'Hara, his pet pooch.

Eric, although he is but three years old, has learned that having a birthday so close to Christmas has its disadvantages. The main one, it seems, is that everyone gives him combination Christmas and birthday presents. And he never has a regular birthday party either. That, according to Eric, "ain't good."

in singing Christmas carols. The crowd immediately swung into the yuletide spirit and opened with "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," "Joy to the World," and "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem."

Perhaps the best rendered carol and certainly the most pleasing to hear was "Silent Night." Excellent tonal effect and some very good harmony came forth when, at the suggestion of Professor Lester, the students softly hummed the second verse of this, the most famous Christmas carol.

The steadily falling snow lent more emphasis to a rousing chorus of "Jingle Bells." In fact, at the completion of this number there were many calls for more. After this sleighing song came a brief swing to the modern with the singing of "White Christmas."

Jean Livdahl, Missoula, accompanied the singing on the piano.

An extra touch was added by the lighting of the large Christmas tree in front of Main hall. This tree, together with the fresh fallen snow, contributed to the added color of the program.

At the stroke of eight by the Main hall clock, the students broke into the singing of "Old College Chums," the song that traditionally closes an SOS.

As the students walked quietly away, softly humming the second verse of "Old College Chums," they brought a close to one of the most beautiful, most impressive Christmas SOS's ever held on this campus.

MSU Remains In Conference

The Pacific Coast conference meeting at Pasadena ended Wednesday night after six days of suspense as to whether or not the Grizzlies would be dropped from coast competition. Both Idaho and Montana remain in the PCC. However, Montana will continue to play a half conference schedule.

The Grizzlies will oppose Idaho, WSC, and California. This season, Montana won over Idaho, losing to Oregon, Washington, and UCLA. All PCC games scheduled are on the opponent's field.

Other games are against Arizona and Utah State, away, and Colorado A & M on Dornblaser field. This leaves the Grizzlies with three open dates: Oct. 18, Nov. 1, and Nov. 22. One of the dates will be filled with Montana State, probably at Butte.

The schedule, which is as follows, leaves Montana with a possible chance of having three home games.

Oct. 4, Arizona at Tucson; Oct. 11, Utah State at Logan; Oct. 18, open; Oct. 25, WSC at Pullman; Nov. 1, open; Nov. 8, Idaho at Moscow; Nov. 15, California at Berkeley; Nov. 22, open; Nov. 27, Colorado A & M.

A new serve-yourself arrangement in the periodical division of the Washington State library has proved successful, says a recent issue of the Evergreen.

Montana's Income Studied In Production Report

BY CYRIL N. MOLLOY

The tenth annual report entitled "Montana's Production, 1930-1946" is ready for distribution, Dr. Roy J. W. Ely, of the economics and sociology department, its compiler, announced yesterday. Copies will go to state agencies, institutions, and individuals in Montana and other states, Dr. Ely said.

"Montana's Production, 1930-1946" is a year-by-year statistical summary of the state's industries, commerce, income and finance. It also contains a weighted production index of agriculture, lumbering, and mining from 1930 to 1944, inclusive, as well as some statistics on the population of the state.

Production Statistics

The overall production of the three basic industries, agriculture, lumbering and mining, rose from a low of 82 in 1934 (1935-39=100) to 146 in 1942, dropped to 139 in 1943, and rose to 142 in 1944. In 1945 agricultural income from marketed farm products totaled $242,560,000. This represents nearly $25,000,000 less than in 1944, but is larger than in any previous year since 1929.

Declines in production of important farm crops in 1945 (below the 1944 yield) include barley, corn, oats, rye, all wheat, alfalfa hay, seed peas, sweet clover seed, dry beans, and potatoes. Some of the leading crops which moved ahead of 1944 levels are alfalfa seed, both wild and tame hay, and sugar beets.

Among livestock, only cattle on farms were greater in number in 1946 than in preceding years. Horses, hogs, and sheep were all less than in 1944. Turkeys numbered slightly more in 1946 than in 1945; chickens declined considerably below 1945.

Copper Production High

Copper continues to be the leading income mineral from Montana mines. In 1944 it represented about 35 per cent of the value of all minerals, amounting to nearly $32,000,000. In general, products from mines in 1944 continued to fall below 1940-42 levels. Manganese, sand and gravel, coal and petroleum in 1944 exceeded outputs of 1943.

Lumber production in 1944 marked a cumulative high over each year since 1929.

The total state income in 1945 was $539,000,000. This fell slightly below the high of $549,000,000 in 1944. The major decline came in proprietors' incomes.

Bank investments of $333,066,000 and deposits of $499,207,000 are the highest in the 16 years ending in 1945. Loans and discounts of $40,814,000 in 1945 exceed the low of $25,000,000 in 1934, but they are still far below the 1930 figure of $68,972,000. Bank debits, which reflect monetary volume of commodity and service transactions, reached $1,323,072,000 in 1945, nearly twice the 1939 figure.

Dairy Produce Drops

Among the dairy products, butter in 1945 dropped to less than 10,000,000 pounds as compared with the nearly 17,000,000 pounds in 1930. American cheese, on the other hand, enjoyed a remarkable expansion in the last few years, the output of 4,172,438 pounds in 1945 being the highest on record.

Beet sugar production of 128,000 tons in 1945 exceeded the 1944 output by 9,000 tons. Manufacture of wheat flour in 1945 was the largest in 16 years, totaling 3,426,383, which topped the 1930 gross by a little more than 20,000 sacks.

Both beer production and liquor sales in 1945 continued to climb to higher levels. Producers of beer turned out 265,000 barrels, an increase of about 14,000 barrels over the 1944 manufacture. Liquor sales were boosted to $13,000,000, or $2,000,000 above the sales of 1944.

Electric power generated and gasoline produced dropped a little below the 1944 figures. Retail sales

Housing Applicants Notified of Deposit

The Student Housing office has notified applicants for the 100 veteran's row houses to submit $10 deposits before leaving on Christmas vacation, according to Mrs. Peggy Leigh, housing secretary.

Mrs. Leigh said that the project is progressing rapidly and that the majority of the houses would be available for occupancy by the beginning of winter quarter. No word has been received concerning the additional 108 units stopped by FPFA action over three weeks ago. The work stoppage order was rescinded by the Seattle FPFA last Friday putting the contractors back to work on both the 100 veteran's units and Jumbo hall.

Students who do not make their deposits on housing before Dec. 17 in the housing office will not receive housing when it is available, Mrs. Leigh said. Those who do not accept housing will be placed on the end of the list in accordance with the housing office's regular policy.

NOTICE VETERANS

The Veterans' administration office has requested all students attending MSU on the GI Bill of Rights and who are planning to be enrolled winter quarter, to secure their student activity cards during the first week of the new quarter.

If this is not done, the VA office announced, the veteran will not be considered in school for winter quarter.

INDEPENDENT PARTY WILL BE SATURDAY

Organized Independents will observe the yuletide festivities Saturday night when they present their annual Christmas party in the IOOF hall over the Woolworth store.

The party is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., Pres. Dave Lane, Deer Lodge, announced.

The average yearly wage received by the 71,000 employees in the "covered" industries in 1945 dropped to $1,936, just a few dollars below the average of $1,960 in 1944. On December 31, 1945, the registered unemployed numbered 5,689.

Estimated expenditures by automobile tourists jumped from $6,520,680 in 1944 to nearly $16,500,000 in 1945. However, this is still far below the $30,293,400 spent by tourists in 1936.

1945 Banner Year

In general, Dr. Ely termed 1945 a banner year for the people of the state. Even though production and income levels were somewhat below those of 1944, they were still far above the levels of 1939.

"To retain the high levels of the past several years," Dr. Ely concluded, "should be the concern of every loyal Montanan; to make them higher should be the desire of every Montanan; to realize them is the task of every Montanan."

Committee Proposes Plan For Providing New Student Union Building

Possibilities for constructing a new Student Union building were discussed yesterday by members of a special group called by Pres. James A. McCain.

The committee is now considering a proposal by which construction of a new building may begin within the next six months, although the structure may not be completed in one operation.

Students, meanwhile, would continue to use the present Student Union.

Before any definite action can be taken, the students themselves will have to make the decision, President McCain said. The group has been considering possible immediate purchase of the present Student Union by the University for use as a business administration and education building. This, however, would require immediate student action and would not give them time to consider all the facts and to make a decision.

The new suggestion was that certain present funds, combined with possible future funds, be used for excavation and construction of at least one floor of the new building, which could house the crowded student bookstore. Later, with the acquisition of additional funds, the building could be completed.

After action by the Legislature, the University could then, in a few years, purchase the present Student Union building from the students and remodel it into a classroom building.

In this way, construction could begin soon on a new building for business administration and education.

This proposal, said President McCain, would require action by the Montana State Board of Education and the Legislature to remove the limitation of $300,000 placed on Student Union building funds several years ago. A new building would cost approximately $600,000.

Immediate purchase of the Student Union for a business administration-education school would leave the students without a building until a new one could be constructed, the president said.

As immediate action would be necessary for converting the building into a business administration-education home, student decision would be hurried.

John P. Jones, Seattle architect, was on the campus last week with plans for the remodeling of the present Student Union for further student use. During the proposed remodeling period, however, student use would be limited if not eliminated.

Mr. Jones also presented plans for the remodeling of the structure into a business administration and education building.

Gal Veteran Tries Registering in ROTC

A woman veteran caused a perplexing problem last week in the ROTC department. An ex-corporal in the woman marines, she wanted to register for ROTC courses for winter quarter.

Tech. Sgt. B. L. Eubanks explained that there was nothing in ROTC regulations expressly prohibiting a woman to enroll in ROTC, but there was nothing permitting it either.

The woman vet was finally convinced that she should stay in civilian courses, but now ROTC staff members are scratching their heads and wondering why, as long as there is still a Women's Army corps, there couldn't be a women's ROTC.

Lindborg Draws Cartoon Series

BY A. E. PEDERSEN, JR.

Cartoons may be funny, but to Bob Lindborg, Missoula, cartooning is serious business. An art major, Bob is the creator of a series of cartoons, "Back-to-School Vet," now running in the veterans' edition of Army Times.

"The editors told me they would use my cartoons as long as they drew reader interest," Bob explained. "Right now I'm about 14 weeks ahead of schedule."

The former cartoonist, assistant editor, reporter, and layout man of the Lone Star Scanner, Fort Worth service paper, started his training with a correspondence school cartooning course in 1943. At that time he was attending Missoula high.

"But I really started serious work on my cartooning about July, 1945, when I worked on fundamentals. After that, I began drawing for the Scanner, a paper put out by the Fort Worth army air base."

Bob draws complete cartoons, and sends them in, with captions, to various magazines.

"And I've got rejection slips to prove it," he grinned.

Foresters to Cut Trees Tomorrow

Foresters, eager to cut and haul the evergreen trees and boughs for Foresters' ball before heavy snow sets in, will head for the woods again Saturday morning.

Chief Push Jack Schmaltz, Sheridan, Wyo., says the truck will leave from the forestry building at 9 and lunches will be provided for the workers.

Foresters' ball traditionally features early western costumes, Schmaltz said, and gun-totin', minus live cartridges, will be allowed.

Faculty Group To Attend Meet

Reports of the Montana Elementary and Secondary School commission and the coming legislative program will be chief topics discussed by the School Administrator's association in Helena Dec. 19-20, according to Dr. J. W. Maucker.

Dr. Maucker, Dr. W. R. Ames, and Linus J. Carleton of the School of Education will attend the meeting.

Dr. Maucker said another phase of the meeting will deal with the possibility of developing a state-wide testing and guidance program for high schools of the state. This program would be carried out with the cooperation of university educators.

WANTED: Two riders to share expenses. Destination, Knoxville, Tenn. Jack F. Davis, phone 5393.

REPORTERS MEET

All students registered for Reporting Practice winter quarter are requested by Kaimin Adviser E. B. Dugan to attend a meeting at 5 o'clock this afternoon in J204.

WONDER WHY?

"Gambling for money by university students on the property of Creighton university is absolutely forbidden," states the Creightonian, Omaha, Neb., in a recent front page story. What prompted the notice was not disclosed.

MASQUERS TO PLAN WINTER PROGRAM

Winter quarter plans will be discussed tonight at a Masquer meeting called by Pres. Joan Carroll, Corvallis, for 7:30 in the Student Union green room.

Included in the discussion will be tentative banquet plans, and arrangements for winter quarter initiation of Masquer pledges and actives.

Students Polled on Labor

Closed Shop Denounced in Campus Survey; Collective Bargaining Upheld, Economic Fate Rests Equally on Management

By CYRIL MOLLOY

Montana State University students included in a recent poll on labor believe in organized labor's right to collective bargaining, but are against the closed shop. Less than two-thirds of the students who were polled correctly named the president of the CIO.

These conclusions are drawn from the third survey taken by seniors in Dean James L. C. Ford's seminar class in journalism. Conducting the study were Jack Conkling, Ennis; Joan Engelking, Kevin; Dick Miller, Butte; Clyde Reichelt, Loma; and Patricia Scott, Anaconda.

Besides the campus cross-section, students queried were listed in groups as veterans, men, women, upper classmen, and lower classmen. Unlike preceding surveys, the one on labor showed little deviation or percentage upsets in the answer-pattern.

The majority and minority norms of the cross-section represent in each instance a similar tendency in all categories. Figures in the following tabulations, therefore, are taken only from the cross-section.

The first question was, "Do you believe labor unions should be forced to assume responsibilities as do business corporations?" The response was 85.2 per cent "yes," to 14.2 per cent "no," and .6 "don't know."

Secondly, the students were asked, "Do you believe the economic fate of this country rests on the shoulders of labor, management, or both?" The results showed an overwhelming preference for "both," at 84.6 per cent. Next came "management," at 11.1 per cent, with "labor," trailing at 4.3 per cent.

"Do you believe organized labor has no respect for public opinion or governmental decrees?" ran the next question. Here the "no's" won with 59.3 to 36.4 per cent for the "yes's," followed by 4.3 per cent in the "don't know" class.

The fourth topic took its cue from the recent current events. "Have labor unions the right to strike in a situation that may result in the shutdown of a city's public utilities as was done in Pittsburgh?" Figures favored 61.7 per cent "no," to 32.7 "yes," and 5.6 "don't know."

"Should the states have legislative proposals for public control of organized labor in the public interest?" was the fifth question. "Yes," said 52.5 per cent; "no," said 42 per cent, and 5.5 per cent said they didn't know.

Three remaining short items dealt with collective bargaining, the closed shop, and the identity of the president of the CIO. A majority knows what collective bargaining is (84.5 per cent), and 82.7 per cent believed in it. Asked if they believed in the closed shop, 64.9 per cent of students polled said "no."

Philip Murray was correctly named by 65.5 per cent as head of the CIO. William Green, president of AFL, and John L. Lewis, ex-president of CIO, and head of the United Mine Workers, were named erroneously by a few.

Ex-Air Force Members Plan Organization

Former members of the Army Air forces yesterday announced plans for the formation of the Missoula squadron of the National Air Force association.

The first organization meeting will be at 7:30 Monday night in the South Rose room of the Florence hotel.

Sponsors of the meeting, Harold O. Bell, Theodore Jacobs, Robert R. Johnson, Walter H. McLeod Jr., and Prof. Paul A. Bischoff, have invited all former men and women of the AAF to attend.

James H. Doolittle, the famed Tokyo raider, is the acting president of the association and James Stewart, movie star and former colonel, is a member of the board of directors.

The stated aims and purposes of the Air Force association are:

To preserve and foster the spirit of fellowship among former and present members of the U. S. Army Air forces, and to provide an organization through which the traditions of the AAF may be perpetuated.

To assist in every way possible in obtaining and maintaining proper recognition of the Air forces in order that adequate air power may at all times be available for the defense of our country.

To advise its members and to educate the public at large in development of air power, and to disseminate information on new accomplishments in the field of aviation.

The association will continue the publication and distribution of "Air Force" magazine to its membership.

Interfraternity Will Elect New Council Head

At its first meeting of the winter quarter, Interfraternity council must elect a new president. Council Pres. Raymond Peete, Bozeman, has been succeeded by Julius Wuerthner, Great Falls. Wuerthner is president of Sigma Chi.

Peete has been council president since the resignation of Joe Thiebes, Great Falls, early in the quarter.

Wednesday evening, the council reiterated its old stand against the use of corsages at university social functions. Peete said that corsages will not be allowed at Interfraternity ball Saturday night, because the average college student cannot afford them and he should not be subjected to the embarrassment of watching the bedecked girls of wealthier students go by.

Bill Barbour, Philadelphia, president of Sigma Phi Epsilon, reported that his organization will soon move into its newly-acquired chapter house at 431 Daly.

The council decided that Junior Interfraternity will appear with the senior council on its yearbook page.

Women Shriek At Valentino

Rudolph Valentino, all-time Casanova of the screen, was revived last night in the showing of "The Son of the Shiek," before the Press club in the journalism auditorium.

The 1926, silent performance of shiek-dancing girl romance "Not East of Suez, but South of Algiers," made Boyer, Gable, and Taylor look like inanimated stoics. Although the movie was silent, more than ample sound affects were supplied by the co-ed audience. Jealous males with cynical outlooks roared in pretended indifference.

After the movie Tannis Brown, Missoula, led her Press Club Carolles in several Christmas carols.

Toledo University Scores In Overtime Period To Defeat Grizzlies 63-60

Montana met defeat last night at the hands of the Toledo Rockets 63 to 60 in an overtime game that saw the score tied eight times during the contest.

Dale Zuber and Sylvester Goedde, guard and center, paced the victors with 20 and 19 points respectively. Tom Selstad hit for 12, followed by Cope and Moses who tallied 11 and 10.

The score was deadlocked 57 to 57 at the final gun and during the fast five-minute overtime Zuber swished through a field goal in the closing minutes to cinch the game.

The Montana attack was evenly distributed in scoring, with all

Wilbur Scott Elected M Club President

Wilbur Scott, Missoula, was elected president of the University M club at the organization's meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Loren Palmer, Laurel, was named vice president and Dan Yovetich, Butte, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Joe Thiebes, Great Falls, is the retiring president.

The M club has been inactive on the campus since 1943, but the newly-elected president, Scott, said the group is planning to make up for lost time with a long list of activities slated for winter quarter.

Completion of Idaho Southern university's television station will be postponed at least a year, according to the Bengal. The Pocattello station, the work of students in the three-year television school, will be the first in Idaho.

Diamond Mt. Tow Will Commence Operation Dec. 21

The Diamond Mountain ski run is ready for the winter season, and tows will start running Dec. 21 and 22, snow conditions permitting, Joe Bryan, Missoula, operator of the run, announced yesterday.

The University Ski club has contributed much to the development of the run. With the exception of one week end, club members have been active every Sunday for the past two months. Bill Tremper, club president, said. The course has been greatly improved.

Club members have completed clearing the numerous runs, repair of the concession stand, building of a jump, and helping to prepare the tows for operation.

Tremper said a bus will be chartered for the entire season, furnishing ski club members transportation to the run, 22 miles from Missoula.

M Club Taps Six Women

Six girls were tapped for M club and four were awarded M pins Wednesday night at the WAA annual Christmas fireside in the Student Union, Betty I. Smith, Ponca City, Okla., WAA president, reported.

Tapped M club members are Judy Beeler, Billings; Betty Jo Hyde, Kalispell; Dorothy McKenzie, Philipsburg; Carolyn Nygren, Hobson; Betty Jo Staves, Missoula; and Donnamae Winters, Bridger.

M pin awards went to Betty Bays, Erma Lee Taylor, and Helen Tom, all of Missoula, and Muriel Bottomly, Helena.
